

Gilbert, AZ. – Baseball Player University the premier baseball instructional television show seen weekly on Fox Sports Net is pleased to announce its use of ProMirror as a key component of its 2007 television series.

ProMirror is used in several episodes of the series to quickly and effectively illustrate the proper technique baseball player's need to understand and master.

“Baseball Player University is extremely pleased to feature ProMirror in our 2007 series broadcast. It allows us to clearly demonstrate to our viewing audience watching at home the skills we are teaching.

Our goals at Baseball Player University are to provide our nation wide audience a high caliber baseball educational experience. ProMirror helps us ensure we deliver a first class program that our viewers and sponsors will appreciate. “

Jeff Forney
Founder
Baseball Player University

“We are pleased to add Baseball Player University to our growing list of customers. Their use of ProMirror in a television production environment is an exciting milestone for us. Knowing a nation wide audience will be exposed to the benefits of teaching and learning baseball with ProMirror is fantastic.

Ralph Lazzaro
ProMirror, Inc.

In addition to Baseball Player University, ProMirror is currently used by several MLB organization including the New York Mets and Arizona Diamondbacks.

For further information visit www.ProMirror.com and www.baseballplayeruniversity.com